

PHILOSOPHIA CHRISTI

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	CRAIG J. HAZEN	3
ARTICLES
Is Yahweh a Moral Monster? The New Atheists and Old Testament Ethics	PAUL COPAN	7
Dawkins's Best Argument: The Case against God in The God Delusion	GREGORY E. GANSSLE	39
God and Modal Concretism	RICHARD DAVIS	57
Externalism, Skepticism, and Knowledge: An Argument against Internalism	JAMES BEILBY	75
Minimalist Truth and Realist Truth	WALTER HOPP	87
Humans, Commodities, and Humans-in-a-sense	RICHARD LANGER	101
Intelligent Design, Darwinism, and Psychological Unity	ANGUS MENUGE	119
Neuroscience and the Evidential Force of Religious Experience	TRAVIS DUMSDAY	137
Intersubjective Evidence and Religious Experience	THOMAS WAYNE SMYTHE	165
"No-Risk" Libertarian Freedom: A Refutation of the Free-Will Defense	WALTER J. SCHULTZ	183
What's So Good about Libertarian Free Will?	A. A. HOWSEPIAN	201
PHILOSOPHICAL NOTES
Graham Oppy on Infinity: A Review Essay on Philosophical Perspectives on Infinity	WILLIAM LANE CRAIG	221
Vindicating a Bayesian Approach to Confirming Miracles: A Response to Jordan Howard Sobel's Reading of Hume	JOHN DEPOE	229
"It Would Have Been Good for That Man if He Had Not Been Born": Human Sinfulness and Hell as a Horrendous Evil	STEVEN B. COWAN	239
BOOK REVIEWS
Winfried Löffler, Einführung in die Religionsphilosophie	WILLIAM LANE CRAIG	251

Peter Adamson and Richard C. Taylor, eds., The Cambridge Companion to Arabic Philosophy , and Daniel H. Frank and Oliver Leaman, eds., The Cambridge Companion to Medieval Jewish Philosophy	ROBERT LLIZO	254
James E. Taylor, Introducing Apologetics: Cultivating Christian Commitment	PATRICK T. SMITH	258
Walter Hooper, ed., Narnia, Cambridge, and Joy: 1950–1963 . Volume 3 of The Collected Letters of C. S. Lewis	ADAM BARKMAN	262
NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS		266

---

Editor's Introduction

This issue introduces our tenth year of publication in our “second series.” If you’ve been a member of the Evangelical Philosophical Society long enough, then you remember the days when the journal was, for the most part, photocopied and stapled together in someone’s garage. We’ve come a long way.

Since the beginning of our new series we have been committed to a professional look—including footnotes at the bottom of each page of text. In academic journal production, that is a “gold-plated” way to format the pages because it is a lot harder and more expensive. But it’s a wonderful feature for serious scholars who need only look to the bottom of the page for sources and references.

With this issue we are adding another important feature that we have been meaning to include for several years: abstracts. Sorry it took so long, but here they are in all their glory at the bottom of the first page of every article and note. Hope you like them!

Before you dig into this meaty issue, let me call your attention to a few important items.

(1) We need you to get up (right now, with journal in hand), walk to your institution’s library, and insist that they immediately subscribe to the journal. If they don’t, then visit them once a week for the rest of the term and remind them that this publication is indispensable to a serious serials collection. Then, hit them with the fact that there is a special promotional deal and a way to obtain all the back issues for a complete run. That should do the trick.

(2) Tell your colleagues, students, enemies, and friends about the special promotional deal: $30 for the current issue plus a two-year subscription. This is a remarkable $50 savings! The promotional deal is intended for individuals or libraries that are new subscribers.

(3) Visit our new Web site, www.epsociety.org, for features and online discussions of journal and philosophy topics at our blog. Also, use the site to renew your subscription, buy back issues, purchase EPS sponsored apologetics CDs, sign up for our free newsletter, and much more.

Craig J. Hazen
Biola University